- 1 The princess knelt down and looked at the frog, then she kissed him gently on his wet green lips. At that moment, a light flashed and the frog vanished. In his place stood a rather nice-looking prince. 'Hi!' he croaked. 'Does this mean you agree to be my wife?'

- 2 'My darling!' she cried. 'I'd love to marry you and live in Frogingham Palace!'

'Oh dear,' he said, 'that's a shame, because I'd really like to set up home in a cosy little rivulet I've had my eye on. We can bring up our royal tadpoles there.'

'You have soft froggy heart,' she said. 'You don't mind me calling you Froggy, do you?'
