It's a different world since we hosted over 1500 students at the 2019 Criminology Day. Nevertheless, we're determined to bring our panel of experts to your classrooms with 6 amazing contemporary talks and spotlight interviews.

Our bundle of immersive pre-recorded lectures and interviews will bring real-world insights to your students that they can apply in their exams - such a rich and diverse panel of speakers is not to be missed so ensure that you purchase a pack for your school. Featuring brand-new immersive talks from leading Criminologists surrounding contemporary themes and spotlight interviews from Maria 'The Mafia Princess' Merico and Noel 'Razor' Smith.

This downloadable pack contains links to 6 lectures/spotlight interviews that can be shared with your students and watched in class, at home or on any mobile device. Please note: The videos are hosted online and will expire on 31st December 2021.

What's included:

Black Lives Matters and Policing - Dr. David Baker, Lecturer in Criminology at University of Liverpool

This lecture focuses on the history of police use of lethal force against American citizens – looking at the treatment of slaves to the murder of George Floyd in 2020. David also examines how organisational practices and cultures are perceived to enable the use of lethal force, and how multiple narratives are employed to legitimize its use in the aftermath of a citizen's death.

What is Criminology? - Dr. Lyndsey Harris, Criminologist at University of Lincoln

From CSI to Midsomer Murders, it seems that there is always a crime show available to watch on TV at all times around the clock. In addition, there are always crime and horror movies to thrill and entertain us. Hear from Dr. Lyndsey Harris on what constitutes Criminology, what the four perspectives are and how the history of crime relates to the field of Criminology.

Empathy and Criminal Justice: Why does it matter? Dr. Zoe Walkington, Psychologist at Open University

During this lecture, your students will test their abilities at identifying what empathy looks like and how it feels to be treated empathically. They will also think about how we might be able to encourage people to be more empathic to people who they might not see as being similar to themselves. This lecture covers several A-level Sociology themes including social differentiation, power and stratification as well as globalisation and crime in contemporary society; the media and crime; green crime; human rights and state crimes.

Prisons, Punishment & Prisoners - Dr. Helen Nichols, Senior Lecturer in Criminology at University of Lincoln

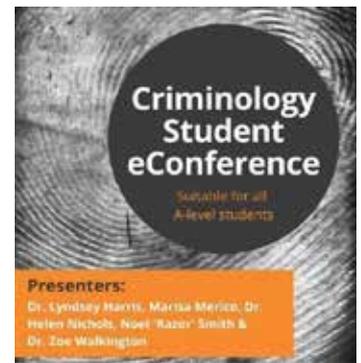

This lecture will provide students with a clearer understanding of the emergence of prisons, the uses of punishment and the experiences of people in prison. The session will focus on the birth of prisons, provide an overview of 'justifications' of punishment and consider a research case study about education in prisons and how it is used by prisoners who choose to engage with it.

Spotlight interview with Marisa 'The Mafia Princess' Merico

Marisa Merico, the daughter of one of Italy's most notorious Mafia Godfathers, was dazzled by her father, Emilio DiGiovine. Marisa's extraordinarily story is the most powerful portrayal of a Mafia family to emerge in recent years. It's the perfect balance of shocking violence, dangerous betrayals and enduring love.

Spotlight interview with Noel 'Razor' Smith

Having spent three of his five-and-a-half decades behind bars, nobody is more qualified than Noel 'Razor' Smith to talk about life behind bars. Criminologist Dr. Lyndsey Harris talks to former bank robber Noel "Razor" Smith about his life in crime. What made him go straight after spending much of his life in prison? And is Smith, who has been diagnosed as a psychopath, capable of true remorse?
